AFTERGLOW

Your Grief Body Map

Grief is not only a feeling. It sits in the body too, and naming where it sits can make it easier to carry.

Shade or circle where you feel it. There is no wrong answer.

What it feels like

- ○ Tight chest, or a weight sitting on it
- ○ A lump in the throat
- ○ Hollow or churning stomach
- ○ Heavy arms and legs
- ○ Tension in the jaw or shoulders
- ○ Exhaustion sleep does not fix
- ○ Racing or pounding heart
- ○ Shallow or held breath
- ○ Headaches or pressure behind the eyes
- ○ Restless, unable to sit still
- ○ Appetite gone, or constant hunger
- ○ Numb, far away from your own body
- ○ Something else _____

- Where do you feel it today, and what does it feel like there?

- When does it show up? A time of day, a place, a sound, a name.

- What has helped it ease, even a little, even once?
